Element Care PACE partners with instED to bring in-home medical care to PACE participants

Element Care PACE and instED announce a new partnership to provide in-home urgent medical care to PACE participants. By delivering high-quality and compassionate urgent care to PACE participants, instED will help avoid unnecessary trips to the emergency department and associated inpatient stays that may follow. “We are happy to be able to provide this service to our participants, instED visits will allow participants to be seen in their own homes, avoiding lengthy ER wait times. Participants will be treated with the supervision of Element Care’s NPs and MDs who are already familiar with the care they need” said Dr. Joanna Duby, Medical Director at Element Care PACE.

This program is supported by a comprehensive technology platform called instED Now®. Element Care’s on call service, will be available 365 days per year to all Element Care PACE participants.

“We are excited for our new partnership with Element Care PACE. Their mission aligns with ours, as we expand to bring in-home urgent medical care to the most vulnerable members of our society.” said Sebastiaan Foppema, CEO of instED. The PACE model of care allows older adults 55+ with long-term care needs to remain safe in their home and community for as long as possible. instED’s in-home urgent medical care helps to support their mission.

instED, a proven, mobile integrated health provider, is on a mission to help individuals avoid unnecessary visits to the emergency department by providing urgent medical care in the comfort of a member’s home. Launched in Massachusetts in 2014, instED combines a comprehensive technology platform instED Now and an experienced clinical team, with a wide network of trained paramedics, to bring its deep expertise with home-based care to individuals needing urgent medical care that doesn’t require a visit to the emergency department.
